The MONTFORTHHAUS<sup>1</sup> was opened as a new cultural and congress centre in 2015 and was designed by the Hascher Jehle (Berlin) and Mitiska Wäger (Bludenz) teams of architects. Information and event tickets are available from the local Tourism and Ticket Office there. Fine food and drinks are available with a great view at the Restaurant E3 with terrace on the top floor of the Montforthaus.

CITY FORTIFICATIONS<sup>2</sup> The city wall protected Feldkirch's residents from intruders until the 19th century. The most impressive tower is the CATS TOWER<sup>3</sup> (Katzenturm), which was rebuilt around 1500 under Emperor Maximilian. It's where the »cats« (»Katzen«) – which was what the cannons used to be called – were stored. It's bell, the largest and heaviest in Vorarlberg, which weighs more than 8.5 tonnes, is rung at 3 p.m. on Fridays. The CHURER OR SALT GATE<sup>4</sup> (Churer or Saltztor) was the gateway to Switzerland – to which the city had built lively trade links. Feldkirch's favourable location made the town a transshipment centre for many goods – with salt being one of the main commodities that was traded in particular with the town of Chur. The Gothic CHURCH OF OUR LADY<sup>5</sup> (Frauenkirche), which dates back to the 15th century, is located next to the Churer Gate. The Thieve's Tower (Diebsturm) served as a prison while the WATER TOWER<sup>6</sup> (Wasserturm) provided the inhabitants with direct access to the River Ill. Gunpowder used to be stored in the POWDER TOWER<sup>7</sup> (Pulverturm). The MILL OR SWINE GATE<sup>8</sup> (Mühle or Sautor) was located directly next to the Mill (Herrenmühle) and the Pig Market (also known colloquially as the »Swine Market«, which were the Schweinemarkt or »Saumarkt« respectively).

The NEW TOWN<sup>9</sup> (Neustadt) was built in the 13th century at the foot of the Schattenburg and has been pedestrianised in spring 2019. It flows into the GAISZIPFEL<sup>10</sup>, which is named after the Gaisbock (Billy Goat) clock on the former Bludenz Gate (Bludenzertor).

The SCHATTENBURG CASTLE<sup>11</sup>, Feldkirch's landmark for many centuries, used to be a protective castle, office and residence for the Counts of Montfort and later became the offices of the Habsburg reeves, a poorhouse and a prison. It's possible to visit the Schattenburg Museum and the Castle Restaurant (Schlosswirtschaft) today.

The façade of the TOWN HALL<sup>12</sup> (Rathaus) bears witness to the city's eventful history. The large painting by Florus Scheel that may be admired on the ground floor of the town hall reveals what Feldkirch's old town looked like in the 17th century.

ST. NICHOLAS' CATHEDRAL<sup>13</sup> was built as a place of worship in the Gothic style by master builder Hans Sturn in the 15th century. It's known for the altar by Wolf Huber and the church windows by Martin Häusle. The cathedral square is home to »der betstuhl« (»kneeler«), a sculpture by Hanno Metzler, which is also a sundial and commemoration of Georg Joachim Rhetikus, a mathematician, physicist and astronomer from Feldkirch.

The ST. JOHN'S CHURCH<sup>14</sup> (Johanniterkirche) was the first church to be built in Feldkirch's old town and was gifted by Count Hugo of Montfort, the city's founder, to the Order of St. John for its help in establishing the town. Today, the church is home to contemporary art installations.

The MARKET SQUARE<sup>15</sup> (Marktplatz) has been the heart and trading place of the city since the 13th century. This is where life happens, be it in the shops, at the traditional weekly market (every Tuesday and Saturday morning), in the many cafés, bars and restaurants or at various events.

The PALAIS LIECHTENSTEIN<sup>16</sup> was the official residence of the Liechtenstein reeves in the 18th century and today houses the city library.

The STATE CONSERVATORY<sup>17</sup> (Vorarlberger Landeskonservatorium) was part of the former Jesuit College Stella Matutina which students attended from all over the world. It was founded around 1900 and today offers music students and their teachers space for lessons and concerts.

The REICHENFELD<sup>18</sup> forms the local recreation area and cultural quarter which the music school, the State Conservatory (Landeskonservatorium), the Gatehouse (Pfortnerhaus) and the Old Indoor Swimming Pool (Altes Hallenbad) as well as green areas and a large playground are part of.

The head of Saint Fidelis of Sigmaringen, to whom people suffering from head ailments appeal for help, has found its final resting place at the CAPUCHIN MONASTERY<sup>19</sup> (Kapuzinerkloster), which was built in 1605. Fidelis was briefly the head of the monastery and was beaten to death in Graubünden.

It was already possible to cross the River Ill from the HOLY-CROSS-QUARTER<sup>20</sup> (Heilig-Kreuz-Viertel) before the city was established. A small chapel with frescoes is the centre of this picturesque part of the city.

Weapons and later the fire brigade's fire-extinguishing equipment were kept at the ARMOURY<sup>21</sup> (Zeughaus) in previous centuries.

The DISTRICT COURT<sup>22</sup> (Landesgericht) was built by architect Ernst Ditttrich in the Art Nouveau style at the beginning of the 20th century; it is responsible for dealing with cases in the Federal State of Vorarlberg.

The WILDLIFE PARK<sup>23</sup> (Wildpark) is located on the Ardetzenberg. This is the place to see around 160 native species of animals all year round, a kiosk welcomes visitors from spring to autumn. Admission is free, but a voluntary donation is very welcome.
